

Why Was The National Guard Hiring Internment/Resettlement Specialists Last Week?

August 18, 2021 45 Comments

This article was written by Jeff Thompson and originally published at The Organic Prepper

The National Guard is hiring Internment/Resettlement Specialists.

Let that sink in.

Editor's note: the National Guard removed the job listing. However, we have added screenshots (see after post) to validate. The Organic Prepper acquired this link from INDEED posting this position for the National Guard on 08/16/2021. Screenshots after post.

With Biden's sudden withdrawal from Afghanistan, you might think that is the reason for the resettlement aspects of these listings ... except they appeared BEFORE the withdrawal.

What Does An Internment/Resettlement Specialist Do?

According to the National Guard website:

OVERVIEW

Internment/resettlement specialists are primarily responsible for day-to-day operations in a military confinement/correctional facility or detention/internment facility.

JOB DUTIES

- Supervise confinement and detention operations
- Provide external security to facilities
- Provide counseling/guidance to individual prisoners within a rehabilitative program
- Manage and maintain prisoners/internees and their programs

SKILLS LEARNED:

- Military laws and jurisdictions
- Self-defense and use of firearms
- Interpersonal communications skills
- Search/restraint and custody/control procedures

WHY Is There A Need For Internment/Resettlement Specialists?

Job position listings for such WERE available in the following locations:

- Lancaster, California
- Washington DC
- Denver, Colorado
- Edinburgh, Indiana
- Monticello, Minnesota
- Parkville, Maryland
- Asheville, North Carolina
- Auburn, New York
- Sioux Falls, South Dakota
- Rapid City, South Dakota

Either the National Guard very quickly filled those positions, or someone is attempting to hide something. The links now all state: ZERO JOBS FOUND. Below is a screenshot of the listing for Lancaster, Ca. when it was still available.

So, why on earth would a military branch primarily designed to remain within US borders need Internment/Resettlement Specialists? (Although we have seen several deployments of the National Guard to the Middle East within recent years).

Recent Historical Events To Consider

We've witnessed the exponential growth of Big Brother-style surveillance throughout the world over the past two years. Part of this has included developing lists of those willing to get specific papers and those who are not.

The demonization of those refusing to get vaccination papers is ongoing.

We've discussed the very real potential of another lockdown coming this fall. Many didn't comply with the last and, likely, even more, won't abide by any upcoming ones. Just look at the massive protests taking place throughout France, England, and other nations worldwide.

Then the American government created a course discussing how to mass quarantine rural Americans effectively. And, the National Guard began going door-to-door with public health workers to "convince" people to get their shots.

Are More Severe Measures And "GreenZones" In Our Future?

Biden is now floating the idea of banning interstate travel for those who refuse the jab. Another possible measure discussed is changing how the federal government reimburses treatment for unvaccinated patients who become ill with COVID-19.

The CDC recently presented a document for consideration of The Shielding Approach to Prevent COVID-19 Infections in Humanitarian Settings. The document describes the shielding approach:

*The shielding approach aims to reduce the number of severe COVID-19 cases by limiting contact between individuals at higher risk of developing severe disease ("high-risk") and the general population ("low-risk"). High-risk individuals would be temporarily relocated to safe or "green zones" established at the household, neighborhood, camp/sector, or community level depending on the context and setting. They would have minimal contact with family members and other low-risk residents. [source]

Furthermore, the CDC's document gives suggestions for effective implementation. For example: It may be necessary to assign someone within the green zone, if feasible, to minimize movement in/out of green zones. [source]

And now the National Guard is looking for "Internment/Resettlement Specialists."

How Many Times Have The Rules Changed?

First, we heard there was no reason to wear a mask. Then, an N95 with a one-way valve was unacceptable. Later, multiple cloth masks were the key.

Two weeks to flatten the curve was all it was going to take. Now, some argue that it could be years before restrictions are lifted, if ever. Then, if anyone believed that vaccine passports were the next step, they were considered crazy conspiracy theorists. Later, the concept of a passport system was embraced – even by many Republicans.

Denial of hospital care because you refuse particular treatments? Nobody would ever argue for such! Only a short while later, this became a talking point of people in positions of power throughout the world.

Surely the idea of people forcibly being rounded up and sent to camps is ludicrous.

Isn't it?

Now, the CDC is discussing the possibility of "green zones" (aka camps).

What Are We To Believe Is The Purpose Of Internment/Resettlement Specialists?

Was this just a benign job posting typical for the military to have? (However, as stated before, the National Guard removed the postings.) Or is there something else going on here? And why did the NG pull those job listings?

Does the idea of being forcibly taken from your home and thrown into a camp seem so crazy now? Let's talk in the comments section.

Informative article which I've forwarded to my friends who are on the fence.

..
Also, I for one am on the fence as to whether there's actually a COVID-19 virus, and if ANY viruses exist (although I do believe that bacteria exist), and here's an interesting video on that subject. <https://www.bitchute.com/video/7YHeTDrgQqY/>

ReplycaliforniawomanAugust 18, 2021 At 6:37 Pm*

I am not a COVID believer, however our ICU is filled with covid patients (walnut creek, ca) . Perhaps the vaccinated are getting sick in the summer? Totally odd.

ReplyBrandon SmithAugust 18, 2021 At 6:48 Pm*

ReplyKeithAugust 18, 2021 At 6:50 Pm*

Media
This is fabricated out of whole cloth

ReplyBrandon SmithAugust 18, 2021 At 6:56 Pm*

Yes, the virus is real, I had it including all the specific symptoms, but the "effects" are highly exaggerated. We only had 17 total deaths in 18 months in my county from covid and the hospitals were mostly empty in nearby Flathead County at the height of the know it though from the media constantly harping on about how ICUs were supposedly “overwhelmed”.

Gauntlet33August 19, 2021 At 10:29 Am*

I also had something really bad around April 2020. Major ear pain (which I thought may be an ear infection) and my throat was so swollen that it was excruciatingly painful each time I attempted to swallow guacamole, water, or even my own saliva. That lasted 3 days and was then gone after nuking it with tablespoons of crushed garlic with honey for flavor. Anyway, I refused to get tested and so I'll never know if it was bacterial or viral (and I wouldn't know if I could trust their tests anyway), but I isolated myself just in case it was contagious. I still lean about 60-40 to believing that COVID is real and that viruses in general do exist, and for sure this “pandemic” is very greatly exaggerated, but the fact that many report that viruses (including any variant of COVID) can't be isolated makes me wonder.

Resistance21August 20, 2021 At 11:01 Pm*

Hey Gauntlet33,
I too had a terrible sore throat for a few days in March of 2020 where I couldn't swallow without excruciating pain. Thanks for sharing that.

I didn't think it was related to COVID because I assumed I had it a month earlier in February of that year before COVID was a thing. I thought I had a bad flu, but then re-diagnosed myself in retrospect because I had the telltale lack of taste.

It's amazing what we take for granted.

During the incident in March all I wished for was to be able to enjoy a future cup of coffee.

I had to beg my urgent care for antibiotics on three consecutive visits until they relented and I immediately improved. It's interesting that you recovered naturally.

My husband had a video appointment with his doctor who looked totally exhausted and was doubled over coughing and looked lousy. The doctor had been in the ICU all morning with his COVID patients. I have a tendency not to believe anyone, but I trust what he said. The only problem is, he is advocating the vaccine as a solution.

Yeah, I'm just not buying it. Even the CDC is showing only a 17% average on ICU beds taken by covid patients, and they have a tendency to inflate the numbers. I've asked so many people to show me proof of a single hospital full or near full from covid patients and not one has been able to produce it. There's not a single video of a packed hospital in the US; not one. You walk into hospitals in my region and they are quiet and empty in most cases. Also, if your husband's doctor looked at the numbers for ICU beds in heavily vaccinated countries like Israel he would see that the majority of the patients are now fully vaccinated. Doctors are the most indoctrinated people of all, which is why they refuse to follow the science.

Gauntlet33August 19, 2021 At 10:33 Am*

Also keep in mind that hospitals are 5G hotspots which may explain people getting sick there. Also, I'll bet anything your husband's doctor had the COVID "vaccine" which is likely the biggest reason he's sick. Anyway, I've posted before that we're also in CA, and I'm hearing more rumors of them perhaps attempting to close interstate travel soon, so we may finally be leaving early next year to the Southeast.

That precedent was set eighty years ago. Americans of Japanese descent were rounded up during WWII and tossed into concentration camps. What makes anyone think they won't round YOU up?

Reply

Gauntlet33August 19, 2021 At 10:46 Am*

Exactly. About 6 years ago, my wife and I went to a museum in Little Tokyo (in downtown LA) and I was reminded how inhumanely US resident Japanese (who I believe mostly lived in CA) were treated simply because of their nationality. Relocated, lost their jobs and business and homes. So much precedent to do it all over again to anyone who is considered a dissident / terrorist or unsafe due to their unvaccinated status. That's why we have to form localized defensive groups so that we're not picked off one by one but instead ambush any invading force, whether it's the cops, federal army, or a UN military force.

Yes, if I lived in Australia right now I would be forming groups in the deep "outback" or I would be on a sailboat out of there to the nearest hospitable islands. I would be as far away from the cities as possible because the government has gone full Nazi. You can still buy bolt action rifles and shotguns in Australia last I checked. Purchase both along with ammo and a nice long range MRAD scope for the bolt action. Use the bolt action for long range to take down anyone trying to stick you with the jab or lock you up in camp, and use the shotgun for close range. You have to make due with what's available.

Yes, we live in a rural area and have our basic firearms for protection from home invasion etc. Our fear is the "swat teams". Waco/Ruby Ridge and the 1000's of "no knock raids" for supposed drugs. We all can't have a militia on our property at the same time. I guess that is just where we are at in this shit storm. Sad

Actually, if you have a militia then there is little chance they will show up at Australia is in a very dark place. Take for example a very good looking NSW minister took the AZ jab and now he is holding press conferences and his left eye is almost completely shut the media has released a statement saying that he has been diagnosed with Bell Palsy. On another note a very good looking woman journalist took the jab and now she says that she has large lumps in her breast. Most of the media/ politicians have taken the jab, it will be interesting to see how they hide the ill health that's about to beset the majority of them.

Back in February of 2020, I saw reports from people in Kansas City who said their kids in the Guard were being called up for duty IN KANSAS CITY. Nobody in the group — a “health freedom” page on FB — understood why. Covid was only a little word that belonged to Seattle at that time. Well, now we know how the Guard has been used over the past 18 months, which suggests this is REAL, even if it makes no sense now to most of us. Good catch, Daisy and Brandon — though it is very scary.

We have to ask ourselves is this more fear tactics? Setup to get more people to comply. Just like the gun confiscation theme., There is not enough resources and people to carry this out. How to tell who has and who has not? Especially in the rural areas? I'm in upstate NY and if that was tried here there would be major push back. And there are millions that say hell no, never. Where to put million or more of non comply folks., More fear i suspect.

And if that did start i believe it would be over for them as soon as that news got out.

As soon as the news got out. Probably a good time for the internet outage that was rehearsed in July by the WEF.

I fully expect the internet/cell phone network to go out, worldwide, at a time coinciding with a winter surge/military lockdown. It will make it harder for patriots to coordinate a response.

I hear what you're saying.

It's hard for me to measure such logistics, but I'm amazed at supposed prisoner of war numbers.

I seem to recall that some battles during WWII may have resulted in 100,000 prisoners from the defeated side. And these were trained militarily.

Why does that happen?

Also, I had trouble getting my head around the temporary success of the Vichy government occupying a entire country of dissidents.

I wonder what parallels these examples may provide to your reasoning.

Yes I think using theoretical scenarios or even staged events is a way to push and prod the populace. For instance I posit that a staged fake gun confiscation event could be used to generate fear and compliance, as in: Look! See what happens when you resist! Of course it could have the opposite effect...

In Australia you can see how probably is going to occur. At the moment they are focusing on getting 80% of the population the death jab and this will likely be done by November (ish). Thats 80% of the population out of way. I have heard that when cyber polygon goes live aka the international collapse most people will be bankrupted by this and then the IMF via our government will take over your debts and in return you must give up your property rights and take the death jab. The concentration camps will be for the remainder of the population that have been smart enough to not get the jab and hold onto their wealth after the collapse.

In my part of Texas, one of her big cities, many of the hospitals have signs out front indicating the Emergency Room waiting time. Even at the peak of the panic, 5-minute or 10-minute wait times were normal. Stated in another way, we never saw 1 or 2-hour wait times. The media lies. Or did Building 7 really fall “in sympathy” with the Twin Towers?

My first day to comment.

I've been following for several months.

I love the analysis Brandon.

Too many sources and pundits are afraid to connect the dots even if they report insights. I think speculation is such a powerful way to consider what may be true.

I love how this site and Leo Hohmann's are unafraid to use inductive reasoning to fill in the blanks with inference. It's much more valuable than someone who plays it safe and evades true revelation by insisting he is just “a simple man.” 😊

(Not denigrating the “simple man” because he’s played his role too.)

Even though it may feel futile, I think our largest “weapon” is to continue to spread the truth. Don’t take for granted the small ways. There are plenty of public voices. But don’t underestimate the subtle and progressive grassroots transmission.

I am concerned that “patriots” could prematurely fall for a trap. The Revolver stories about the Jan. 6 elector protests (my preferred euphemism) were revealing. It came out how much right-wing protest groups like the Oath Keepers and Proud Boys were infiltrated and incited by likely government operatives. And then all the honest recruits took the hit.

And of course no disrespect, but I always wonder why sites like this are not marginalized by the authorities more. I largely trust the content I’ve seen, but man we live in a subtle world of deception. My resolve is to ride the bus as long as it’s headed to the true destination.

Oh yeah, one other thing. I love the wining attitude Brandon exhibits. The more common alternative approach of anger and veiled desperation may itself be a form of demoralization even if the news reported aligns with truth.

I’m not sure of the duration, but my gut tells me that unopposed tyranny has no way of succeeding indefinitely.

Thanks for the kind words. I think unraveling these events needs to be approached more like a murder investigation, or more like journalism USED to be handled. You don’t always catch the killer at the scene with the smoking gun; you have to sift through the evidence and determine motive and connections through analysis. I think if you look at the google results for my work you’ll see that the site is highly marginalized. Most of the search results for my articles are pretty well buried no matter how popular they are. Also, the establishment is reticent to outright censor or take down websites like mine (at least for now) because direct censorship would bring MORE attention to my work, not less. They don’t want a Streisand Effect on their hands. No, when they do take this site down they will do it along with hundreds of others all at once so as to not draw attention to any specific source of information.

(Qs from me: Where does MSDH get authority to issue such? Who is going to enforce? Are they going to have roadstops and forced testing? Is this why the National Guard was hiring 'internment specialists'? Where does this Nazi style craziness stop?)

“....Friday, State Health Officer Dr. Thomas Dobbs handed down a mandate that all individuals, vaccinated or not, who test positive for COVID-19 must stay home upon learning they are infected.

Individuals who fail to do so could be charged with a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of $500, six months' imprisonment, or both, upon conviction. If a life-threatening disease is involved, failure to follow the order could result in a felony charge, carrying a fine of up to $5,000, five years in prison, or both....”

In West – Central Florida where I live there's a regional health center less than a mile from my house which is designated a “Red zone” covid destination and even has a helipad. I was just there because a family member suffered a heat-stroke episode. I observed no over-crowding at all, in fact it was quite empty. Also, no helicopters landing or taking off; maybe one or two a week. When the center is busy choppers are chattering all day overhead. Anyone listening to the news would think Florida has bodies in the street by now, not so much. I believe most of us here will have at some point come across the alt media meme “100 million less Americans by 2025.” For my taste there have been too damned many theories that are now de jour facts. I put nothing out of ability of the pyramid cap to bring such genocide about. It seems to me that the biggest problem by a million miles and then some are those democracy loving populations of the west. It’s best not to startle the herd while removing members, likely to be promised healthy work in their resettlement. I see only dark and even darker days ahead as incremental implementation of desired agenda and psychological warfare takes place. After all the psychos have had centuries to refine their skills in these techniques and that knowledge isn’t exactly everyday knowledge the common man has under his belt. Sucks doesn’t it.

ReplyBrandon SmithAugust 24, 2021 At 1:22 Am*

They can’t go incremental anymore, the agenda is out in the open. They must now race to the finish line before liberty minded Americans can organize a rebellion against it. This rebellion is forming much faster than many people realize. The end result will be war. There’s no way around it. The only question is how long will it take to wear down the globalists? 10 years? 20 years? They will lose, it’s inevitable, but it will take time and much sacrifice.

ReplyAnnaSeptember 1, 2021 At 4:41 Pm*

Brad: Re the alt media meme “100 million less Americans by 2025.” This goes all the way back to the Obama “reign” with Ezekial Emmanuel, M.D. on Obama’s staff stating, “No one should live past 75 years of age.” Why we ask? Because those of us over 75 remember what it has taken for America to remain free and resilient. People educated in the past 20-30 years have not been taught our tough history and what it took for them to grow up in relative peace here in America. As such, they do not value human life at all. Everything is a meme to them, i.e. if you shoot or hack it to death, it will rise again. No problem. They live in a fantasy world. I do not believe they are one bit afraid of Covid. You would think they would be worried about all the MS13 gang members being released from prison early as well as those gang members who are breaching our borders wantonly. The poor people who are being trafficked for sex are also returning with warped minds and attitudes. It will probably take another uprising or civil war to "grow these people up" to realize their lives depend on being free and resilient, able to work and move around at will. God help us all. Group as much as possible and stay safe.

The problem(s) I have with this are 1)All the doctors and scientists around the world working on Covid-19 and no one has isolated the virus yet? 2)HCQ and Ivermectin are reputed to be valid therapeutics for this illness and yet both are anti-parasitics, not anti-virals and have never been used(to the best of my knowledge)to ease, let alone cure, a viral infection.
